

It has been brought to my attention that I and my family may be in danger of losing our K-LOVE radio signal (we listen to 107.1) due to a new broadcast service called LPFM. We listen to K-Love daily, in the car and in our home and losing our access would mean the loss of a very beneficial, well-loved and well-used service. It is radio I trust as a parent and wife to uplift, encourage and entertain my family. I don't allow my 18-month old to listen to other radio stations - their content is too often out of sync with my values and beliefs as a Christian. If K-Love were to be displaced, our entire community would be deprived of the safe, positive and encouraging influence of their programming. It is a life-line to many people I know. What could be more in the public interest than radio programming which inspires random acts of kindness, convinces the lonely and desperate to have hope and provides peace of mind to parents? K-Love does all of these things and more. The service they provide to my family and to my community is too valuable to be lost. Please don't allow our access to be compromised in any way - we need K-Love to continue to serve and minister to us, our friends, our families and our community. Our society is beset with so many negative influences....we can't afford to lose K-Love's positive and hope-filled programming.
